

SPECIAL EDUCATION PARENT FORUM:
Exploring Transition Programs for College & Career Paths
Wednesday, March 4 • 7 p.m.

at the Stamford JCC - 1035 Newfield Avenue, Stamford, CT

Join us for a hands-on workshop where parents can connect with experts in the field to learn more about their child's rights, the transition process from high school to postsecondary education, and transition program options for next steps.

Speakers:

Attorney Lawrence Berliner: From identifying issues to navigating the special education law process, Attorney Lawrence Berliner has passionately devoted 36 years to focusing his law practice representing children, families and adults in Connecticut.

Franklin Academy

Franklin Learning Institute, East Haddam, CT: Kinsley Rausch Sanders, Dean of Transitional Services and Jennifer Dziekan, College Transition Advisor. Franklin Learning Institute [FLI] is the residential transition program for postgraduates ages 18 to 21 at Franklin Academy. The students have executive function, social emotional, or academic skills that they would like to improve before making the leap to college or career.

Westport College Prep

Westport College Prep, Wilton, CT: Dr. Dawn Matera, Co-Founder, and Lauren McBeth, Executive Director. Westport College Prep provides a gap year experience for high school graduates ages 18 to 21 with learning disabilities, autism spectrum disorders, and executive function challenges and prepares students for college, work, and life.

Winston Transitions

Winston Transitions, NYC: John Civita, Head of School and Lauren Kellner, Admissions Director. Winston Transitions, part of Winston Preparatory Schools, is a highly individualized academic and vocational transition program for students ages 17 to 21 with learning differences in New York City.
